1 In these coordinated cases, several plaintiffs have failed to appear, or announced that they 2 would not appear, for their depositions. As a result, during the September 10, 2015 hearing, the 3 Court ordered counsel for the parties to agree on deposition dates for each plaintiff in these 4 coordinated cases, and to provide the Court with those dates on the record. They have now done
5 so, and it is now the order of the Court that each plaintiff appear for his deposition on the dates
6 provided by counsel on the record at the hearing. The failure by any plaintiff to appear for his 7 deposition on the agreed-upon dates will result in dismissal of his case for failure to prosecute.

8 The parties may not change these dates on their own. In the event the parties wish to 9 change a deposition date, they must submit a stipulated request for permission from the Court to 10 change the date. The Court will only grant such a request upon a showing of extraordinary 11 circumstances.

13 IT IS SO ORDERED.
